MAHATMA GANDHI UNIVERSITY, KOTTAYAM
MGU – BVOC (HONOURS) Regular Examination, NOV 2025
First semester –
SKILL DEVELOPMENT COMPONENTS(SDC) - MG1SDCTHM102 – HOSPITALITY AND RESORT MANAGEMENT

Duration 1.5 hrs. Max Marks 50

1.Mention two features that make hospitality services perishable

- Intangibility and Simultaneity: Hospitality services are experienced and consumed at the same time they are delivered, making them perishable.
- Time-sensitive: Hospitality services have a limited timeframe for delivery and consumption.

2. Identify two duties of a room attendant

Cleaning and Preparing Rooms: This includes tasks such as:

- Making beds
- Changing linens
- Cleaning bathrooms
- Dusting and vacuuming floors
- Restocking amenities

Maintaining Room Supplies and Equipment: This involves ensuring that rooms are fully equipped with necessary supplies and that equipment is in good working order.

3.State one advantage of using online booking engines

- Increased Accessibility and Convenience

4. State one reason why handling feedback is important

-Improvement and Growth

- Handling feedback allows businesses to identify areas for improvement, make necessary changes, and enhance their products or services, ultimately leading to increased customer satisfaction, loyalty, and business growth.

5. State one impact of technology on the hospital industry

- One impact of technology on the hospitality industry is:

Enhanced Guest Experience.

Technology has improved the guest experience through online booking systems, mobile check-in, in-room entertainment, and personalized services, making interactions more convenient and efficient.

6.Explain the concept of franchising in hotel chains using an Indian brand example.

- Franchising is a business model where a hotel chain (the franchisor) grants permission to an individual or company (the franchisee) to operate a hotel using its brand name, logo, and business model. The franchisee pays fees and royalties to the franchisor in exchange for access to its brand reputation, marketing support, and operational expertise.

Indian Brand Example: Taj Hotels

Taj Hotels, a renowned Indian hospitality brand, has expanded its presence through franchising. Under a franchise agreement, Taj Hotels allows independent hotel owners to operate properties using the Taj brand name and standards. The franchisee benefits from Taj's strong brand reputation, global marketing reach, and operational expertise, while Taj Hotels earns revenue through franchise fees and royalties.

7.Apply fire-safety regulations to hotel operations.
-Fire Risk Assessment: Conduct regular fire risk assessments to identify potential hazards and implement measures to mitigate risks.
- Fire Safety Training
- Fire Detection and Suppression Systems
- Emergency Evacuation Plan
- Fire Drills: Conduct regular fire drills to ensure employees are prepared to respond in case of a fire emergency.
- Fire Safety Equipment Maintenance
- Guest Education: Provide fire safety information to guests, including evacuation procedures and emergency contact numbers.
- Compliance with Local Regulations: Ensure compliance with local fire safety regulations and standards.

8.Apply fair employment practices in resort operations.
- Equal Opportunity Employment.
- Fair Recruitment and Hiring.
- Non-Discrimination
- Fair Compensation and Benefits
- Employee Rights
- Diversity and Inclusion
- Training and Development
- Grievance Mechanism

9.Discuss how guest expectations vary across cultures.

Guest expectations can differ significantly across cultures, influenced by their cultural background, personal values, and past experiences.
- Communication Styles:
  - Direct vs. Indirect- Guests from low-context cultures (e.g., USA, Germany) prefer direct and clear communication, while those from high-context cultures (e.g., Japan, India) may rely more on non-verbal cues and implicit messages.
- Personal Space:
  - Proximity: Guests from cultures that value personal space may prefer more distance during interactions, while those from cultures with closer proximity norms may feel more comfortable with less personal space.

- Time and Punctuality- Service Expectations:- Level of Service
- Food Preferences- Social Interactions

10.Describe the line of authority in a full-service hotel.

The line of authority in a full-service hotel typically follows a hierarchical structure, with clear reporting relationships and responsibilities.

- General Manager (GM)
The GM is the head of the hotel and oversees all operations. They are responsible for setting strategic goals, managing budgets, and ensuring guest satisfaction.
- Department Heads
Report to the GM and oversee specific departments, such as:
  - Front Office Manager
  - Food and Beverage Manager
  - Executive Housekeeper
  - Sales and Marketing Manager
  - Human Resources Manager
  - Supervisors/Team Leaders
    Line Staff
- Frontline employees who interact directly with guests, such as:
  - Front desk agents
  - Housekeeping staff
  - Servers and bartenders
  - Bell staff and concierges

11.Compare star-rated hotels and heritage hotels with suitable Indian examples.

5-Star Heritage Hotels in India
- The Leela Palace Udaipur: A 5-star hotel offering luxurious rooms, a private balcony, and stunning views of Lake Pichola.
- The Leela Palace Bengaluru: A 5-star hotel featuring elegant rooms, a fitness center, and excellent service.
- Taj Lake Palace, Udaipur: A 5-star hotel with breathtaking views of Lake Pichola, offering luxurious rooms, and world-class amenities.
- Rambagh Palace, Jaipur: A 5-star hotel with stunning architecture, beautifully landscaped gardens, and exceptional service.

-Heritage Hotels in India

- Svatma, Thanjavur: A heritage boutique hotel with a 150-year-old mansion, offering yoga, meditation, and traditional Tamil cuisine.

- The Belgadia Palace, Mayurbhanja: A heritage palace with stunning architecture, beautifully landscaped gardens, and traditional Odia cuisine.
- Neemarana's Deo Bagh, Gwalior
A heritage hotel with beautifully preserved Mughal architecture, offering luxurious rooms and traditional Maratha cuisine.

- Taj Usha Kiran Palace, Gwalior : A heritage hotel with colonial architecture, beautifully landscaped gardens, and exceptional dining options.

12.Explain the importance of night auditing

A night audit is a critical process in the hospitality industry, particularly in hotels. It involves reviewing and reconciling financial transactions, room occupancy, and other operational data from the previous day. The night auditor typically performs this task during the overnight shift.

Importance of Night Audit
- Financial Accuracy
- Revenue Management
- Operational Efficiency

13.Discuss how "Atithi Devo Bhavah" can be integrated into modern hotel staff training programs.
Adhi Devo Bhava, a Sanskrit phrase meaning "Guest is God," is a fundamental principle in Indian hospitality. Integrating this philosophy into modern hotel staff training can enhance guest satisfaction, employee engagement, and overall service quality.
- Guest-centric approach
- Respect and empathy
- Attention to detail
- Empowering staff
- Storytelling and cultural heritage
- Role-playing and scenario-based training
- Feedback and recognition

14.Discuss the structure and major functions of the food and beverage department in a five-star hotel.

The Food and Beverage (F&B) department is a vital part of a five-star hotel, responsible for delivering exceptional dining experiences to guests.
Department Structure:
- Food and Beverage Director/Manager Oversees the entire functions F&B department,
- Assistant F&B Manager: Supports the F&B Director/Manager in daily operations, supervising staff, and coordinating events.

- Restaurant Managers: Oversee specific outlets, such as fine dining restaurants, casual eateries, or bars, ensuring excellent service and revenue growth.
- Service Staff: Includes waiters, bartenders, and stewards.