PART B - SHORT ANSWER
Answer any 6 questions. Each question carries 5 marks

6. Imagery of locks/chains; institutional control over creative expression; rigid structures of traditional Malayalam verse. (An/CO3)
7. Transition from isolation to shared guilt; Sonya as a redemptive figure; foreshadows spiritual rebirth and legal punishment. (An/CO2)
8. Love is not a static event but a continuous process; requires constant effort and renewal to survive external pressures. (U/CO1)
9. Friend as a "board and fireside"; symbols of harvest/sustenance; spiritual mirroring and unconditional support. (An/CO3)
10. Mental state affecting physical health; her "ten-to-one" chance depends on her will to live rather than medicine. (U/CO2)
11. Love as a physical/visceral experience (trembling, loss of speech); the intensity of the "sublime" and jealousy. (An/CO3)
12. Represents class snobbery; obstacle to Elizabeth and Darcy; highlights the social hierarchy of the era. (K/CO2)
13. Symbolizes the barrier of the prison; reinforces the power of imagination and auditory connection over physical presence. (U/CO2)

PART C - ESSAY
Answer any 1 question. Each question carries 15 marks

15. The "Soul" represents the individual's inner self making a deliberate decision to select its own "Society" and shut the door to everyone else. This mirrors contemporary social interactions where individuals "block" or "unfollow" to maintain mental peace and privacy. (An/CO3)

16. Hooks explores her childhood experience where physical care was provided, but emotional love and affirmation were missing. She examines how traditional, authoritarian family structures often prioritize obedience and control over genuine emotional bonding. The narrative highlights how society often lacks a "love ethic," leading to a culture of domination rather than mutual respect. Her personal struggle serves as a critique, suggesting that recognizing the absence of love is the first step toward reclaiming it. (K/CO1)

17. Raskolnikov's "Extraordinary Man" theory uses cold, mathematical logic to justify murder for a supposed "greater good". Sonya Marmeladov represents pure spirituality, redemption, and the Christian ideal of suffering for others. The protagonist's mental and physical breakdown illustrates that human nature and morality cannot be reduced to intellectual theories. The conflict is resolved when Raskolnikov abandons his prideful intellectualism to accept Sonya's path of spiritual humility and "New Life". (U/CO2)
