QP CODE: 25901039

MAHATMA GANDHI UNIVERSITY, KOTTAYAM

MGU-BVOC (HONOURS) Regular EXAMINATION November 2025

First SEMESTER

Skill Development Components (SDC) - MG1SDCFTM100 - INTRODUCTION

TO FASHION

(2025 ADMISSION ONWARDS)

Part A

MCQ

Answer all questions

Each question carries 1 mark

1. Define the fashion cycle.

a). Laundry process b). Life span of a fashion trend

c). Circular sewing technique d). Production method

ANS: (B) Life span of a fashion trend

2. Explain the fashion trend?

a). A permanent style b). A popular style accepted by many people at a time

c). A traditional costume d) A marketing technique

ANS: (B) A popular style accepted by many people at a time

3. Recall one major platform used for digital fashion advertising.

a). Billboard b). Magazine

c). Instagram d). Runway

ANS: (C) Instagram

4. Identify the bottom wear from the list below.

a). Blouse b). Palazzo pants

c). Tunic d). Romper

ANS: (B) Palazzo pants

5. Label the part of clothing described: "Goes around the waist."

a). Hem b). Cuff

c). Collar d). Belt

ANS: (D) Belt

6. Summarize the economic benefit of accurate forecasting.

a). Higher pricing b). Reduced unsold stock and better inventory planning c). Increases labor costs d). Decreases imports

ANS: (B) Reduced unsold stock and better inventory planning

7. Recognize which city is often referred to as the "ultimate fashion capital."

a). Milan b). Paris

c). London d). New York

ANS: (B) Paris

8. What is the main purpose of wearing a wide-brimmed hat?

a). Fashion statement b). Protection from sun and rain c). To keep the head warm d). To show social status

ANS: (B) Protection from sun and rain

9. Define "silhouette" in fashion.

a). Fabric color b). Pattern design

c). Overall shape or outline of a garment d). Decorative accessory

ANS: (C) Overall shape or outline of a garment

10. Long-term forecasting predicts trends for how many years ahead?

a). 6 months b). 1 year

c). 2–5 years d). 10 years

ANS: (C) 2–5 years

11. List the top five global fashion centers.

a). Paris, Milan, London, New York, Tokyo

b). Rome, Paris, Madrid, London,Seoul

c). Paris, Los Angeles, Dubai,Milan, Tokyo

d). Milan, Berlin, Paris, Sydney,London

ANS: (A) Paris, Milan, London, New York, Tokyo

12. Select the boys' childrenswear garment.

a). Leggings b). T-shirt

c). Gown d). Palazzo pants

ANS: (B) T-shirt

13. Identify fashion brands release seasonal collections?

a). To follow climate and consumer b). To reduce sales needs c). To increase textile waste d). To repeat old designs

ANS: (A) To follow climate and consumer

14.Which of the following is not considered a fashion accessory?

a). Handbag b). Footwear

c). Necklace d). Shirt

ANS: (D) Shirt

15. Identify the months typically associated with Spring/Summer collections.

a). November–December b). January–June

c). July–August d). September–October

ANS: (B) January–June

16. Name the shoe with no heel elevation.

a). Heels b). Flats

c). Boots d). Wedges

ANS: (B) Flats

17. Explain the benefit of consumer research in forecasting.

a). Reduces textile costs b). Predicts future consumer preferences

c). Increases stitching speed preferences d). Avoids trend mistakes

ANS: (B) Predicts future consumer preferences

18. Identify the menswear category that includes T-shirts.

a). Casual wear b). Outerwear c). Sportswear d). Formal wear

ANS: (A) Casual wear

19. Relate political events to fashion trends by:

a). Creating tax issues b). Changing import costs and consumer focus c). Reducing social media use d). Forcing only black clothing

ANS: (B) Changing import costs and consumer focus

20. Identify the bag commonly used for shopping.

a). Clutch b). Tote bag

c). Satchel d). Duffel bag

ANS: (B) Tote Bag

Part B

One or two sentence

Answer all questions

Each question carries 2 marks

21. Define fashion.

ANS: Fashion is a reflection of the Social, Political, Economic and artistic forces of any given time.

22. Describe how fashion trends contribute to the growth of the fashion industry

ANS: Fashion trends drive the growth of the fashion industry by constantly stimulating consumer demand for new styles, leading to continuous purchasing and higher sales. They also encourage innovation, marketing opportunities, and global influence, which help brands expand and the industry evolve.

23. Discuss the advantages of using digital advertising platforms.

ANS: 1. Fashion brands can target ads to specific groups based on style preferences, shopping habits, age, and trends they follow. This ensures that promotional content reaches consumers who are most likely to buy the products.

2. Digital platforms support high-quality photos, videos, virtual try-ons, and influencer collaborations, allowing fashion brands to showcase their products more creatively. This visual appeal enhances engagement and boosts sales.

24. Identify two functions of belts in apparel.

ANS: 1. Belts serve as fashion accessories, adding style, shape, and definition to an outfit, often used to accentuate the waistline or complement the overall look.

2. Belts help hold up garments such as trousers, skirts, or shorts, ensuring they fit securely at the waist.

25. Outline the main idea of the trickle-up theory.

ANS: This theory Proposes that fashion actually begins its development at the level of street fashion. Street fashion refers to the clothing worn by people who are Considered hip or trendsetters.

eg. of trickle up fashion was the grunge look.

Part C

Short Answer

Answer all questions

Each question carries 5 marks

26. State the main purposes of clothing and explain briefly each one.

ANS: Clothing is manufactured of fibre and textile, material worn on the body. Clothing perform a range of social and cultural functions, such as individual, occupational and sexual differentiation and social status. Clothing also function as a form of adornement and an expression of personal taste or style.

PROTECTION:Clothes provide humans a source of physical protection even before clothing evolved as a means of protection against the physical dangers of natural calamity, evil, spirits, Demons, and spiritual powers. The type of clothing was in the form of jewellery tattooing etc..

COMMUNICATION: Clothing communicates various facts of a person's life such as age, sex, lifestyle, occupation, religious beliefs. Clothing reflects our value system, attitudes, interest in life. Clothing also conveys self-image, emotions, et cetera.

DECORATION: Even before the invention of clothes, people adorn their bodies with body painting, tattooing, piercing and hairstyling. Therefore, adornment in clothing, enhance one's self image through beautification, improving sexual attraction and establishing social status.

27. Explain how social and cultural factors influence fashion trends.

ANS: Effects of social changes on fashion:

In fashion, social changes are especially important. For example, during and prior to the 1950s, woman had always worn dresses however, as woman became more liberated. For example: pants for woman became normal Social changes that fashion trend forecasters must consider are:

1. Age

2. Women in workforce and
3. Ethnic influences

Effects of cultural factors on fashion:

Culture is the values of an individual. Cultural factors have a significant effect on fashion. Every individual has different sets of habits, believes and principles which he or she develops from his family, status and background.

Females staying in India prefer buying sarees as compared to Westerners. Similarly, a male consumers would prefer a Dhoti or Kurta during auspicious ceremonies in Eastern India as this is what their culture is.

Each culture further comprises of various sub cultures such as religion, age, geographical location, gender that is, male or female, status et cetera.

28. Define fashion advertising and state its primary objective.

ANS: Fashion advertising involves the planning, writing, designing and scheduling of paid announcements designed to attract customers attention to a fashion product or event. Advertising uses wit, shock, elegance, celebrities and other creative approaches to get attention.

Its primary objective is to reach specific target customers or potential customers. Therefore, advertising style must be altered to reach various types of consumers. To the contemporary customers, trendy clothes are sold with sex and sizzle; to the upwardly mobile professional, merchandise is presented in enhanced status images; to the family oriented consumers, fashion is presented in an atmosphere of hearth and home.

There are mainly three kinds of advertising:

1. Image Advertising
2. Item Advertising &
3. Promotional Advertising

29. List examples of jewelry worn around the wrist and fingers.

ANS: . Jewelry Worn Around the Wrist

Bracelets – Simple or decorative bands made of metal, beads, or leather.

Bangles – Rigid circular bands, often worn in multiples, popular in South Asian cultures.

Cuffs – Wide, open or closed bands that encircle the wrist, often with intricate designs.

Wristwatch (as jewelry) – Fashionable watches designed to complement outfits.

Charm bracelets – Bracelets with small decorative pendants or charms.

Thread or friendship bracelets – Made from threads, yarn, or cords, often handmade.

2. Jewelry Worn on the Fingers

Rings – Circular bands worn on one or more fingers; styles include engagement rings, wedding bands, cocktail rings, and signet rings.

Stackable rings – Thin rings worn together on a single finger.

Midi rings – Rings worn above the knuckle for a layered look.

Knuckle rings – Designed to fit snugly over the knuckle.

Statement rings – Large, eye-catching rings often with gemstones or unique designs.

Spinner rings – Rings with an outer band that spins freely around the inner band, sometimes used for stress relief.

Part D

Short Essay

Answer all questions

Each question carries 10 marks

30. Define the purpose of clothing and list its various functions.

ANS: Clothing is manufactured of fibre and textile, material worn on the body. The most obvious function of clothing is to improve the comfort of the wearer by protecting the wearer. Clothing perform a range of social and cultural functions, such as individual, occupational and sexual differentiation and social status. Clothing also function as a form of adornement and an expression of personal taste or style.

PROTECTION:Clothes provide humans a source of physical protection even before clothing evolved as a means of protection against the physical dangers of natural calamity, evil, spirits, Demons, and spiritual powers. The type of clothing was in the form of jewellery tattooing etc..

Then came the clothes made from animal skins and part of trees including their bark to protect the body from excessive heat, cold and bites and stings of insects and animals. In today times, clothes, For example, raincoat, gloves, draper, thermal, suits, and sports gear for the sake of protecting our bodies.

Protection from cold- Wear multiple layers of clothing, thick, or heavy fabrics.

Fur Lining:Trap body heat and create a layer of warmth.

Gloves and mittens: Protect the fingers from frost bites.

Specialised forms of protective clothing: Diving suits, space suits, firefighters, attire, bullet-proof, jackets, facial masks.

Protective gears- helmets, gloves, diving, suits, water googles.

COMMUNICATION: Clothing communicates various facts of a person's life such as age, sex, lifestyle, occupation, religious beliefs. Clothing reflects our value system, attitudes, interest in life. Clothing also conveys self-image, emotions, et cetera.

Age: Example college student of wears, T-shirt and jeans, they change to shirts and trousers in the case of an office goer.

Sex: Men shirts buttoned leftover right and woman right over left.

Marital status: Hindu woman wear mangalsutra and Sindoor.

Cultural influences: The traditional dress of the Japanese,the kimono, reflects the culture, customs and traditions of the Japanese people.

DECORATION: Even before the invention of clothes, people adorn their bodies with body painting, tattooing, piercing and hairstyling. Therefore, adornment in clothing, enhance one's self image through beautification, improving sexual attraction and establishing social status.

31. Define womenswear and explain its main categories such as formal wear, casual wear, ethnic wear, and party wear. Write 2 materials each used in different categories with suitable examples.

ANS: Women's Wear

There are many types of women's apparel, including formal wear, casual wear, ethnic wear, and party wear. There are also specialty categories, such as bridal gowns and maternity clothes, and a huge array of accessories.

Dresses are single garments or two pieces on the same hanger priced as one unit. Styles range from tailored to simple; business to casual. Dresses are easy to wear; no thought is required for coordination.

1. Formal Wear:
   Formal wear is designed for professional or official occasions. It emphasizes a polished, elegant, and professional appearance, often adhering to workplace or event-specific dress codes. Formal wear is usually neutral in color (black, white, gray, navy) and features minimal patterns. Accessories like belts or simple jewelry enhance the professional look. Common Garments are blazers, trousers, pencil skirts, formal shirts, business suits.
   Examples:

   Polyester: Lightweight, wrinkle-resistant fabric used in blazers and formal trousers. Example: Office blazer.

   Cotton Poplin: Smooth, crisp fabric used in button-down formal shirts. Example: White formal shirt worn in offices.

2. Casual Wear
Casual wear is comfortable clothing for daily life, leisure, or informal occasions. It prioritizes ease of movement, breathability, and relaxed style. Casual wear often features brighter colors, playful patterns, and relaxed fits. Layering and mix-and-match styles are common. Common Garments are T-shirts, jeans, leggings, casual tops, shorts.

Examples:

Cotton Jersey: Soft, stretchy, and breathable, commonly used in T-shirts. Example: Printed T-shirt for everyday wear.

Denim: Durable and versatile fabric used in jeans and jackets. Example: Blue denim jeans for casual outings.

2. Ethnic Wear
   Ethnic wear includes traditional clothing inspired by cultural heritage. It is worn during festivals, weddings, or culturally significant events. Common Garments are Sarees, salwar suits, lehengas, kurtis, dupattas. Ethnic wear often features embroidery, prints, or embellishments reflecting regional craftsmanship. Colors are usually vibrant and designs culturally significant.
   Examples:

   Silk: Luxurious, smooth fabric for festive sarees or lehengas. Example: Kanjivaram silk saree for weddings.

   Cotton (Handloom / Khadi): Breathable, lightweight fabric for summer kurtis or casual ethnic sets. Example: Cotton salwar suit for daily wear.

4. Party Wear
Party wear is designed for social events, evening parties, or celebrations. It emphasizes glamour, style, and elegance. Common Garments are Gowns, sequinned dresses, cocktail dresses, fancy tops, jumpsuits. Party wear often incorporates bold colors, metallics, sequins, beads, or lace. It focuses on enhancing the wearer's appearance for special occasions and making a fashion statementExamples:

   Satin: Smooth, glossy fabric giving a luxurious look, often used in evening gowns. Example: Satin cocktail dress.

   Georgette: Lightweight, flowy fabric suitable for draped dresses or tops. Example: Embellished georgette party gown.