Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam-

Second Semester MGU-UGP – BSW (Honours) Regular Examination March 2025

MDC -- MG2MDCSWK101 - Positive Mental Health and Well-Being - QP CODE: 25900191

Part A Short Answer Answer any 5 questions Each question carries 3 marks

1. Describe positive mental health and its importance in maintaining overall well-being. a) Positive mental health refers to a state of well-being in which an individual can realize their abilities, cope with normal stresses of life, work productively, and contribute to their community. b) Importance : it supports healthy relationships, effective decision-making, and the ability to manage life's challenges.	[U] / [CO1 1.5.mark 1.5.mark
2. Define Emotional well-being ➢ Emotional well-being is the ability to manage emotions effectively, maintain satisfying relationships, and adapt to change or stress. ➢ It involves recognizing, expressing, and regulating emotions in a healthy and constructive way.	[K] / [CO1] 3 marks
3. Identify one self-care activity for each: physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being. Physical well-being: Regular exercise, such as a daily walk or yoga session. Emotional well-being: Journaling to process and express emotions. Spiritual well-being: Practicing mindfulness or meditation.	[K] / [CO2 1.mark 1 mark 1.mark
4. Describe the role of a sense of humour in developing resilience explain how humour can help individuals cope with adversity. a) A sense of humour fosters resilience by helping individuals see situations from a lighter perspective, reducing stress and promoting optimism. b) Humour can act as a coping mechanism by diffusing tension, building social bonds, and allowing individuals to process difficult emotions more easily.	[K] / [CO2] 1.5.mark 1.5.mark
5. Illustrate the importance of self-reflection in personal growth and development. a) Self-reflection allows individuals to evaluate their thoughts, behaviors, and experiences, leading to greater self-awareness. b) It helps identify areas for improvement, set personal goals, and make more informed decisions, ultimately contributing to personal growth and a deeper understanding of oneself .	[U] / [CO3] 1.5.mark 1.5.mark
6. Define the term emotional spectrum. ➢ The emotional spectrum refers to the full range of human emotions, from positive feelings like joy and love to negative ones like anger and sadness. ➢ It highlights the complexity and variability of emotional experiences.	[U] / [CO4] 3.marks
7. Define coping and explain its significance in maintaining positive mental health. a) Coping refers to the strategies and behaviors individuals use to manage stress, emotions, and difficult situations. b) Effective coping is crucial for maintaining positive mental health as it helps individuals adapt to challenges, reduce anxiety, and maintain emotional balance.	[K] / [CO6] 1.5.mark 1.5.mark

Part B Short Essay Answer any 2 questions Each question carries 10 marks

8. Explain Personal Happiness Index (PHI) and its significance in measuring individual happiness. Describe two assessment tools used to measure PHI.	[An] / [CO1]

I. The Personal Happiness Index (PHI) is a measure of an individual's subjective well-being, assessing how content and satisfied a person feels with their life across various domains (e.g., relationships, work, health, purpose). II. Significance: it helps individuals and professionals understand what areas of life contribute to or detract from a person's overall happiness. III. Two assessment tools used to measure PHI: i. Oxford Happiness Questionnaire: A widely used self-report survey that evaluates personal happiness based on psychological well-being, self-esteem, and life satisfaction. ii. Subjective Happiness Scale (SHS): A brief, 4-item measure that assesses an individual's overall perception of their happiness compared to others.	2.5 marks 2.5 marks 5 marks
9. Analyse the steps involved in the reflective learning process. How can these steps be applied in day-to-day life? Reflective learning involves the following steps: a) Experience: Engage in an activity or event. b) Reflection: Think about what happened and your role in it. c) Analysis: Understand why things occurred the way they did, evaluating outcomes and emotions. d) Conclusion: Draw lessons or insights. e) Action Plan: Apply what you've learned to future situations. Application in daily life, It helps individuals improve communication, handle conflicts better, and grow personally by learning from everyday experiences, such as a difficult conversation or a work project.	[A] / [CO3] 6 marks 4 marks
10. Analyze the barriers to practicing holistic living in modern lifestyles. Barriers include: • Time constraints: Busy schedules often lead to neglect of self-care or spiritual practices. • Technology overload: Excessive screen time can reduce physical activity and social interaction. • Work-life imbalance: Stress from work may overshadow personal needs. • Consumerism: A materialistic culture can divert focus from inner well-being. • Lack of awareness: Many are unaware of holistic approaches or how to integrate them into daily life. These factors make it challenging to maintain balance across the physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual aspects of life.	[An] / [CO4 7 marks 3 marks
11. Describe the importance of building healthy boundaries in interpersonal relationships. Explain how setting boundaries can contribute to emotional well-being. Importance of building healthy boundaries in interpersonal relationships Healthy boundaries help individuals protect their values, energy, and emotional space. They clarify expectations, foster respect, and reduce conflict or emotional drain.	[An] / [CO5] 4 marks 6 marks

Setting boundaries can contribute to emotional well-being of individuals by: • Reduce stress and resentment. • Prioritize self-care without guilt. • Maintain a sense of control and autonomy. • Strengthen relationships through clear communication and mutual respect. This contributes directly to emotional well-being by promoting stability, safety, and confidence in relationships.

[