QP CODE: 24900244

MAHATMA GANDHI UNIVERSITY, KOTTAYAM
FIRST SEMESTER MGU-UGP (HONOURS) REGULAR
EXAMINATION NOVEMBER 2024
First Semester
Multi-Disciplinary Course - MG1MDCSOC100 - SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY
(2024 ADMISSION ONWARDS)

Duration: 1 Hours Maximum Marks: 35

Part A

Short Answer Type Questions
Answer any five questions. Each question carries 2 marks

1. Social Psychology is the study of how individuals think, feel, and behave in social contexts. [U] [1]
2. Social cognition refers to how people process, store, and apply information about others and social situations. [U] [1]
3. The interview method involves collecting data through direct, structured, or unstructured conversations with participants. [U] [2]
4. Four characteristics of personality are consistency, individual differences, adaptability, and traits. [U] [2]
5. The ego, in psychology, is the rational part of the mind that mediates between the id, superego, and reality. [K] [3]
6. Toxic relationships are harmful relationships characterized by manipulation, control, or emotional abuse. [U] [3]
7. Active listening is fully focusing on the speaker, understanding their message, and responding thoughtfully. [U] [3]

(5 × 2 = 10)

Part B

Short Essay Type Questions
Answer any three questions. Each question carries 5 marks.

8. Social psychology helps in understanding human behaviour in social settings, improving interpersonal relationships, and addressing social issues. [U] [1]
9. Self-esteem refers to an individual's overall sense of self-worth, influencing confidence and mental well-being. [U] [1]
10. Projective techniques involve ambiguous stimuli to uncover unconscious thoughts, feelings, and motives, aiding in personality assessment. [U] [2]
11. The main sources of attraction in close relationships include proximity, similarity, physical attractiveness, and reciprocal liking, which foster emotional bonds and mutual understanding. [U] [3]

12. Media can perpetuate stereotypes by reinforcing biased portrayals or reduce them by promoting diverse and inclusive representations. [U] [4]

13. Sternberg's eight types of love include non-love, liking, infatuation, empty love, romantic love, companionate love, fatuous love, and consummate love, each defined by varying levels of intimacy, passion, and commitment. [A] [5]

(3 × 5 = 15)

Part C

Essay Type Questions

Answer any one question. Each question carries 10 marks.

14. Ruth Benedict emphasized how cultural patterns shape the collective personality of societies, describing culture as a "personality writ large." She studied specific cultures, like the Zuni and Dobu, to highlight their unique traits. Margaret Mead, however, focused on how childhood socialization within different cultures influences personality development. Her work, like the study of adolescence in Samoa, demonstrated the flexibility of human behaviour across cultures. While Benedict emphasized the overarching cultural framework, Mead highlighted the role of individual upbringing and social structures. [An] [3]

15. Psychological factors, such as cognitive biases like categorization and in-group favouritism, lead to generalizations and prejudices. Fear of the unknown and personal insecurities also contribute to stereotyping. Social factors include cultural norms and values that perpetuate stereotypes through socialization. Media representations and unequal power dynamics in society further reinforce these biases. Together, these factors create and sustain prejudice in individual and group interactions. [A] [5]

(1 × 10 = 10)