MAHATMA GANDHI UNIVERSITY, KOTTAYAM

MGU-UGP (HONOURS) REGULAR EXAMINATION March 2026

Fourth SEMESTER (DSE) - MG4DSEHMC200 - ROOMS DIVISION OPERATION - II

PART A

1. Night auditing is usually performed during late night hours after daily operations end.
2. Folio verification ensures all guest charges are accurate before final billing.
3. Cash settlement involves immediate payment.
4. Colour harmony creates visual balance and aesthetic appeal in flower arrangements.
5. Hydro extractor removes excess water.
6. Front office accounting is transactional and records guest financial activities.
7. A guest folio is closed when the guest checks out and settles the bill.
8. An audit trail is a record that traces all financial transactions step by step.
9. PMS improves efficiency and accuracy in hotel operations.
10. OPL stands for Outside Purchased Linen.
11. Bed linen comes in direct contact with guests.
12. Heat should be avoided as it can set stains permanently.
13. Guest cycle management supports the guest experience throughout the stay.
14. Bell desk staff usually escort guests.
15. Hotel linen is identified through tags, colour coding, or markings.

PART B

16. Credit limit refers to the maximum amount a guest can owe, whereas credit period is the time allowed for payment settlement.
17. Discard refers to removing linen from use due to wear, while condemnation is officially declaring linen unusable and removing it permanently from inventory.
18. PMS supports front office operations by automating reservations, billing, check-in/check-out, and guest data management efficiently.
19. Guest satisfaction is higher with PMS due to faster service and accuracy, whereas without PMS operations are slower and prone to errors.
20. Symmetrical balance creates equal visual weight on both sides, while asymmetrical balance achieves equilibrium using unequal but harmonious elements.
21. Grading in linen discard management involves classifying linen based on condition to decide reuse, recycling, or disposal.

22. Triangular arrangements provide a structured and formal look, while circular arrangements offer a soft and natural appearance.
23. Linen exchange registers prevent loss by maintaining accurate records of linen movement and accountability.
24. Western flower arrangement focuses on aesthetics and symmetry, whereas Japanese arrangement emphasizes minimalism and natural form (Ikebana).
25. Basic room orientation provides essential information, while detailed orientation includes facilities, safety features, and personalized guest guidance.

PART C

26. The guest departure process includes bill preparation, folio verification, payment settlement, feedback collection, and updating room status. It is important because it ensures revenue accuracy, guest satisfaction, and room availability for future guests.
27. Hotels offer check-out options such as express check-out, self check-out kiosks, and late check-out for convenience. These options improve operational efficiency, reduce congestion, and enhance guest satisfaction.
28. Non-guest accounts are accounts for non-resident customers or internal departments such as city ledger and house accounts. They are controlled through proper authorization, regular auditing, and maintaining accurate records.
29. Linen exchange procedure involves collecting soiled linen, issuing fresh linen, recording quantities, and sending dirty linen to laundry. Proper documentation ensures accountability and prevents losses.
30. The objectives of a laundry visit include understanding laundry operations, hygiene standards, and equipment usage. It helps students gain practical exposure and improve operational knowledge.
